The Epiphany of the Lord

What gifts do we have to offer to the Christ Child?

There is a story about a parish children's Christmas pageant from a few years ago. Everyone was selected for the variety of roles and the costumes were all prepared. There was lots of practice, but as is often the case when young children take the lead, one never knows exactly what to expect. Such was the case that day as the Magi proceeded down the church's main aisle, headed toward the manger and the Christ Child. Upon arriving, the leader of three turned to the congregation, and proclaimed in a loud voice, "We are the Magi, and behold, we come bearing gifts of gold, common sense and fur!"

The Magi brought to Christ the gifts they could bring: gold, frankincense and myrrh. Today's celebration of the Epiphany should encourage each of us to reflect on the gifts we can bring to Christ, so that he may put them to use in building his kingdom here on earth. The gifts don't have to be wildly expensive, but they must come from the heart of who we are, and must be rooted in the unique way that each of us has been fashioned by God.

Consider Dorothy, who at eighty-four, was a widow who had grown tired of only talking about the world's problems. She wondered what she could do to make a difference. She had heard about the plight of her community's homeless, and decided that what she could do is to make them sandwiches. And so she did, taking the sandwiches to the local park where she knew a number of the homeless gathered daily. Engaging them in conversation, she discovered that many of the homeless wanted to work, but didn't have a way to make or receive phone calls or to receive mail regularly. Some of them shared that even if they were fortunate enough to arrange a job interview, they didn't have good clothes to wear or a place to shower.

She took their concerns to her friends, and in a short while, with all of them working together, they were able to secure safe shelter, have a general telephone, a general mailbox, a clothes closet that made available gently used clothing for free, and a place that would eventually be able to serve three simple meals each day. Dorothy is now ninety-four, and still going strong. The place she and her friends helped to create now assists hundreds of people annually.

What is the most valuable gift that each of us has to offer? A sense of humor? An ability to pray with others? Kindness, gentleness and patience? An ability to fix cars or computers? Musical talent? The ability to make others feel welcome? People such as Dorothy help us to know that each of us has a gift that can be offered to Christ. In making that concrete choice, we can help to make God's presence known, and so the Epiphany continues.

In a few short moments, we will present our gifts of bread and wine, as well as our monetary gifts. As we do so, Christ will lovingly accept them and then return them to us, transformed into his body and blood. This is all the nourishment we need to continue to love and serve the Lord.

This year the March for life will be held in Washington, D.C. on January 19, 2018. It will be the 45th anniversary of the passage of the land mark decision of Roe v. 2. Independent, Chester - aschlafly@aol.com

Saint of the Week

January 12 | St. Marguerite Bourgeoys

Marguerite Bourgeoys was born in France in 1620. Her father was a candle-maker who died when Marguerite was very young, and her mother died when Marguerite was 19.

Education of young girls was her passion, but she also felt drawn to religious life. At that time in history, women religious were all cloistered and unable to open schools for the general public. They taught young women who were rich enough to be boarders in the monastery. Marguerite did not feel that this was her calling. She sailed to Quebec and settled there in 1653. She lived among the poor settlers and helped build the first church, Our Lady of Good Counsel. A few years later someone gave her a vacant store to start a school. She opened a school in 1658 and this was the start of public schooling in Montreal. Shortly after this, she returned to France in order to bring back more young women who were interested in joining her to teach.

Marguerite and her companions began to live a religious way of life, eating and praying together as a community. She founded the Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame, and was determined to keep the unenclosed nature of her religious congregation. At this time, it was an innovation, since all women religious lived a cloistered existence. Due to this, Marguerite had to fight for her vision of active religious life. Over the years she traveled back and forth to France several times, but eventually depended on native-born Canadian women to carry on her apostolate. She was loved by all, and was called the "Mother of the Colony."

On January 12, 1700 Marguerite died. There were 40 members of her congregation to carry on the work. They advanced the works of education ranging from primary schools up through university level and many other ministries. At the time of her canonization in 1982, there were 2,600 members of the Congregation of Notre Dame spread throughout the world. She is the first woman saint of Canada.

St. Marguerite, pray for us to remain true to our personal calls and not to back down in the face of difficulties or misunderstandings.
